

Real-world learning for real-life success

Build NC's future workforce and provide opportunities to students and teachers by joining the Navigator.

Your future workforce is in the classroom today. They will not know about the great opportunities in your industry unless you engage with them. The Navigator is a great way to connect with NC educators and students. It's simple.

All you need to sign up is an email, your company name, your company bio, and office location.

Examples of how businesses can engage with educators: guest speaker, career fair representative, and career profile video. You can also post information about internships, pre-apprenticeships, and apprenticeships.

There are also features available for employers, including:

- Multiple reports available on employer's work-based learning engagements and downloads
- Cut out the middleman- the Navigator gives you the opportunity to message with educators directly to schedule work-based learning events.

If you have questions you can contact NCBCE Project Manager, Brianna Green, (brianna.green@nc.gov).
